Once upon a time, there was a boy who called Mike. One day when he went to the park, he tripped over a rock and fell over. Next, a man saw that Mike was lying on the street. The man asked, "Oh no! Are you ok? Do you need any help?" Mike said, "I'm not ok, thank you. Can you help me go to the hospital?" "Of course." the man said.

Then they went to the hospital. The nurse told them to sit in the waiting room. Thirty minutes later it's their turn. In the doctor's room, the doctor asked, "What is his situation?" "I have tripped over a rock and fell over." Mike replied. The doctor checked Mike's leg and said, "It's swollen but nothing else is wrong. I will give you some medicine. After that you can go back home and apply it on your wound." "OK. Thank you." Mike said. Next the man and Mike went to take the medicine and left the hospital. The man said, "I still have something to do, I need to go. Bye!" "Bye!" Mike replied.

At last, Mike went back home alone and ate the medicine. One hour later, he felt the leg wasn't hurt that much.

After this Mike knew that he shouldn't be distracted when he walked, otherwise he would fall.

Tommy had a stomachache

Last Friday, Tommy went to a dance party. In the grand magnificent hall, there were large, delicate blue palace lanterns and blue velvet curtains. The floor was shimmering. The fragrance of their perfume filled the air. When the jazz music flowed slowly and sweetly, a group of jeweled ladies in colorful gowns sang and danced in the dim and gentle light.

Tommy had never seen such a scene before and was surprised. The food smelled so delicious and and looked scrumptious, colourful, fresh and stylish. Tommy saw a lot of sandwiches, chips, chicken wings and some puddings. Tommy was happy because he could eat a lot of delicious food.

Tommy was greedy because he was hungry, so he ate like a horse. He ate a lot and a lot. Suddenly, Tommy felt ill, so his mother had to come to the prom to pick him to the hospital. The doctor said, "Next time, don't eat so many things, otherwise your health will be harmed. Fortunately, there is nothing serious now, just gastric lavage."

After this lesson, Tommy no longer dared to eat indiscriminately, and he also learned how to control himself. He told his mother, "I dare not to worry you anymore." His mother replied, "Oh! My son is turning into a big man. I should feel thankful."

Last Sunday, Tom went to the park. There was a stone on the road but he did not see it. He was tripped by the stone because he kept looking at his mobile phone. He fell over and twisted his wrist. He was frightened and called his father immediately.

After ten minutes, Tom's father came and asked "Tom, how is your injury?" Tom cried, "Dad, I hurt my wrist. It is painful!" His father consoled him, "Don't worry. We will go to the hospital and do some checking first."

After arriving at the hospital, they were told to wait for a doctor in the waiting room. When they entered the room, they were shocked to see a crowd of people who were also waiting for investigation. Tom was upset because he knew it would take a long time for waiting.

Finally, they saw the doctor after three hours. The doctor asked Tom, "How did you get hurt?" Tom felt guilty and replied, "I stumbled over a stone, fell over and twisted my wrist. I'm sorry. I should not play the mobile game when walking." The doctor suggested, "You should always focus on the road. Carelessness can cause danger." Luckily, after checking Tom had a minor sprain in his wrist and needed to take a rest for a few days. They were exhausted after arriving home. It was really an awful day.

Tommy had a stomachache

Last week, Tommy went to his friend's birthday party. Everybody was talking except Tommy. No one talked to him so he walked around the house. Suddenly, he saw so much delicious food. There were chicken wings, cakes, chips, cola, pudding, French fries and sausages.

Then he started eating the delicious food. He looked very hungry and he ate greedily. His mouth was fully stuffed with food. Some people next to Tommy walked away because he ate too quickly but Tommy was enjoying himself.

The next day, he got a stomachache. Tommy told his mum, "Mum, I have a stomachache." His mum said, "Oh! You should go to the hospital." Then they went to the hospital at once. The doctor said, "You should eat some medicine and take a rest."

Then Tommy did not go to school and stayed at home for three days. He was sad because in these three days he missed his favourite lesson.
